

Things are going good so far, managed to get the distortion and boost pedals working and all connected. One thing I have to fix is the toggle button for each pedal, right now I don't think it's working properly but I have to sit down and look at it.

One thing that I'm going to start on next is the reverb I think. I'm gonna search for free sounds of maybe a clap in a hallway, and use that as my reverb.